THE SPEAKERSHIP.

A VIEW FROM ATLANTA HEADQUARTERS.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 13.—[Special.]—Mr. Carlisle says that if the Speakership campaign degenerates into personal warfare he shall withdraw. Thus far there have been no personalities, but the managers of Mr. Cox's interests have given Carlisle's friends to understand that if the Speakership campaign degenerates into personal warfare Mr. Cox will probably enter the field. The next move in the effort to consolidate the Democracy will be the gathering of the Democratic party in New York. The party in that State does not, to a man, favor the support of the Democratic Congressional and Executive Committees of Tilden.

There are those who have no inclination here of any participation of the New York factions in the contest. It is unanimously believed that when Randall was last elected Speaker over the head of the caucus nominee Kelley appealed to Washington, outside and as a representative of Tilden, and openly announced the name of Randall, and it is this action of Kelley that Hewitt and his friends attribute to defeat. The friends of Randall have confidence in success. He is not said to be made Speaker, but he is to be supported himself to defeat Morrison in that other fight to be the Democratic nominee for the Presidency and the Democratic vote of Pennsylvania. A friend of Carlisle, stating the other night the case for the latter, as he said with confidence, he had not asked, but the Speakership of the House of Representatives seemed to be within his grasp. Carlisle's friends acknowledge that the vote of New York will be cast for Randall, but they claim that the vote of Pennsylvania will be cast for Carlisle, and that the vote of Ohio will be cast for Carlisle. Randall has claimed that he will be supported by the New York delegation, and that the vote of Pennsylvania will be cast for him. Carlisle's friends acknowledge that Randall has been quietly working for the Speakership for years, and has had considerable effect in a matter of fact, those having friends eager to the report of their speedy defeat suffer very little from the change, as to a majority of cases such statements would already be taken to correspond directly with the Treasury Office. The work of that office is so well in hand that its correspondence no longer falls behind, and is now up to date.

THE MINT BUREAU.

A VIEW FROM ATLANTA HEADQUARTERS.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 13.—[Special.]—Director Burchard is home again from his trip to Europe, and will resume charge of the Mint Bureau on Monday next. The report of the Director of the Mint for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1883, will be ready for the press in a few days. It will show that the total coinage of the mints of the United States during the year was $77,925,000, of which $45,000,000 were silver dollars. The total coinage of gold was $32,000,000, and of minor coin $925,000. The total coinage of the mints of the United States from the beginning of the mint system to June 30, 1883, was $1,000,000,000. The total coinage of gold was $500,000,000, and of silver $500,000,000. The total coinage of minor coin was $25,000,000. The total coinage of the mints of the United States from the beginning of the mint system to June 30, 1883, was $1,000,000,000. The total coinage of gold was $500,000,000, and of silver $500,000,000. The total coinage of minor coin was $25,000,000.

PENSIONS.

THE CHANGES AGAINST THE CLAIM AGENTS.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 13.—[Special.]—The widely circulated report that the charges against certain pension claim agents have been withdrawn have no foundation in fact, further than this: Soon after the charges were made public Commissioner Dudley returned to Washington, entered and took possession of his office, and upon examination of the cases of Randall, and it is his action of both that Hazelton has given sufficient to rebut. The friends of Randall have confidence in success. He is not said to be made Speaker, but he is to be supported himself to defeat Morrison in that other fight to be the Democratic nominee for the Presidency and the Democratic vote of Pennsylvania. A friend of Carlisle, stating the other night the case for the latter, as he said with confidence, he had not asked, but the Speakership of the House of Representatives seemed to be within his grasp. Carlisle's friends acknowledge that the vote of New York will be cast for Randall, but they claim that the vote of Pennsylvania will be cast for Carlisle, and that the vote of Ohio will be cast for Carlisle. The work of that office is so well in hand that its correspondence no longer falls behind, and is now up to date.

POSTAL AFFAIRS.

ANOTHER NEW STAR ROUTE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 13.—[Special.]—Notwithstanding the fact that the Postmaster-General has made an order to cease any of certain special routes about the city offices which will save three thousand dollars, it has been the practice to have experts from the postal service assigned to assist the post-offices in the dispatch of mail, and Postmasters have been permitted to make these reports of increase from the general post-office fund. Postmaster-General Gresham is of opinion that the appropriation should thus be interchanged, and has ordered the practice discontinued. The result will be a material reduction in the salaries of some of the principal postal clerks. The chief clerk of the Superintendent of Railway Mail Service is reduced by this order $1,000, $1,000 less than the Chicago office.

THE TREASURY.

A CHECKMATE TO THE SYNDICATE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 13.—[Special.]—The annual report of Mr. Wyman, Treasurer of the United States, shows a total net increase of $46,000,000, a decrease of $1,000,000. The only increase to consider was from the sale of public lands. The coinage of the Treasury and the operations thereof are set forth at great length. The Treasurer recommends that an appropriation be made to pay the expense claims for yearly and semi-annual interest money and for the destruction of fractional silver and notes, and that the compensation and expenses of Treasurers be made by the disbursing officer instead of the Treasurer.

THE STATE-HOUSE DISASTER.

Experts Investigating—The Death Floor of Insufficient Strength and the Iron Columns Defective.

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 13.—[Special.]—The experts who are investigating the State-House disaster are E. C. Lee, architect, of Cincinnati; Luther Ludwig, Superintendent of Construction of the Capitol at Washington; Charles Brown, builder, of Milwaukee; Charles Johnson, architect and builder, of Chicago; J. D. Chapman, architect, of St. Paul; and C. Orrick, builder, of Minneapolis. Governor Rusk has a number of architects and other scientific gentlemen in the city whom expect to be investigate the matter with but to the opposite for their own personal satisfaction and information.

Chairman John Bunker and the Finance Committee have had an investigation in the city whose report is to be investigate the matter with but to the opposite for their own personal satisfaction and information.

John Bunker, Sheriff of Milwaukee County, and one of the contractors, testified that he had charge of the work from the commencement of the work to the completion of the building. He was satisfied with the work and that good brick were used throughout the work. He was unwilling to give his opinion as to the cause of the accident.

Harrison Brown, a prominent builder of Milwaukee, being sworn, gave expert testimony to the effect that it was by reading the defective iron columns caused the collapse.

D. C. Dunlap, of Janesville, one of the contractors, testified that he had charge of the entire work on the cornices above the fourth story, and further that the two men—Bryant Hayes, James Kelly, William Jones, William Lewis, and Edward Lewis—were killed by the falling of the dome. He, in his opinion, believe that, when he had left the work on the cornices, the building was perfectly safe, and that the accident could not have occurred but for the falling of the dome. He had inspected the work and was satisfied that it was done in a workmanlike manner. He had not noticed any defective iron columns.

The Coroner's inquest began this morning.

They were met by Dick Pfeffer, of Pfeffer, who testified Wednesday, October 31, that he had charge of the work on the dome. He had not noticed any defective iron columns. He had not noticed any defective iron columns. He had not noticed any defective iron columns

The temperature yesterday, as observed by Sergeant Sullivan, Signal Service, was as follows: 6 a. m., 9 degrees, 6 p. m., 21 degrees, 12 m., 24 degrees, 6 p. m., 21 degrees, 12 p. m., 17 degrees. Mean temperature, 18 degrees. Mean temperature on the corresponding day last year, 36 degrees.

The official canvass of the last county election was yesterday adjourned to Tuesday next, and the canvass both Democratic and Republican, which took place yesterday, was completed, and the returns will be signed and submitted to-day to the county judges.

A lady of this city known as "Tattoo Carlotta," artist at the Union Beach Garden at Coney Island, New York, has had tattooed upon her body a picture of the Goddess of Liberty, with the American flag floating from the top of the head to the feet. The picture is said to be very handsomely executed.

The oldest piece of leather that ever came into this city was received at the Leatherman & Sawyer factory yesterday. It is of California make, and was taken from the body of a mummified Indian found in a cave in the mountains. The leather is said to be in a perfect state of preservation.

Hayes, Dutton & Cumnings, real estate dealers, have sold for Asa Dyer, Jr., of Evanston, Lake Co., the lot 50 by 125 feet, on the east side of East Harrison street, in Dr. J. Parker, of Augusta, Ga., for $6,000. The lot is a fine Boulevard one, and is about to be improved with a first-class residence. The property was purchased by Mr. Dyer about two years ago for $4,000.

Mr. Wolf, of Lichtenau, Tretsen & Co., bankers of New York City, and Mr. Tretsen, of Augsburg, Germany, are at the Grand Pacific.

Christmette Rollin, Minister Plenipotentiary from the Republic of Guatemala, Central America, to the Court of St. James, passed through the city yesterday and his visit and destination are known to but few. It is said he left the Republic of Guatemala on the 1st of October, and after a short stay in London will return to Guatemala. He arrived at the Grand Pacific from the East last night.

At the Fourteen Hours last night a young man was found dead in bed at the Sherman House. He was registered as H. Hawks, U. S. Army, Ft. Custer, Montana, and through inquiries, which it was thought best to make, it was learned that he was a son of Gen. Hawks, U. S. A., and that he had been ill for some time. He was about 25 years of age, and was a graduate of West Point. He arrived at the Sherman House on Monday, and after a short stay there left the hotel, but returned to it on Tuesday evening, when a more serious attack of illness overtook him.

Last evening a little fellow, eventually found to be about seven years old, was picked up by a benevolent-hearted citizen on the Fourth Avenue Bridge, and taken to the Fourth Ward station, the young vagrant, though apparently not suffering much physically, was in a pitiable condition mentally, and refused to tell where he belonged, or how he came to be in the city. He was taken in charge by Matron Hanson, and will be cared for until his friends can be found.

The oldest piece of leather that ever came into Chicago was received at the Leatherman & Sawyer factory yesterday. It is of California make, and was taken from the body of a mummified Indian found in a cave in the mountains. The leather is said to be in a perfect state of preservation. The specimen will be retained by the firm.

CITY HALL.

A number of the fishermen will take action this morning in Bridewell to make a further inspection of the nets belonging to the company's agent.

The Commissioner of Public Works has written a letter to the Chicago & Northwestern and the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad companies, saying that before the year is out he will ask the Chicago avenue and Division street bridges to be made movable, in accordance with the ordinance to which these companies assented.

A correspondent wants to know what power is exercised by the Commissioner of Public Works in determining the number of horses which shall be brought into the city. The City Attorney says that while the Commissioner has no power to determine the number of horses which shall be brought into the city, he has the power to determine the number which shall be brought into the business portion of the city, and that the ordinance which limits the number of horses which may be brought into the city is void.

ACCIDENTS.

Frank Walsh, an employé of Kellogg, Buttolph & Co., lumber dealers, Nos. 1 and 3 Canal street, while engaged in unloading lumber from a vessel at the foot of Division street, yesterday afternoon, had his left leg broken by a piece of timber falling upon it.

Frederick Gaden, eight years of age, living at No. 51 Throop street, was knocked down by a runaway horse and buggy on Halsted street, near Lake, yesterday afternoon, and received a severe scalp wound and contusions of the body.

Michael Walsh, of No. 116 Wabash avenue, in attempting to step from a grain car at Eastwood's dock, yesterday afternoon, fell and received a severe sprain of the left ankle.

An inquest was held yesterday at No. 200 Fifth avenue on the body of a two-year-old boy, Lorenzo Gonzales, who died from a fright caused by a playful woman, in the following way: She placed her hands on the boy's eyes, and then asked him who it was. Before the child could answer she removed her hands and cried "Boo!" The child was frightened, and died from the effects of the fright. The jury rendered a verdict in accordance with the facts.
